

A warm, intimate indoor scene at night, likely a rooftop or lounge area. In the foreground, a man with glasses and a woman with her hair in a bun and wearing a headband are seen from the side, looking towards the background. The woman is holding a glass of white wine. The background is filled with other people socializing, some standing and some sitting. The space is decorated with numerous warm white string lights strung across the ceiling and around the room. Large windows in the background show a dark night sky with city lights visible in the distance. The overall atmosphere is cozy and celebratory.
